Shadow II Chewings Fescue was selected for increased turf quality, disease resistance and high levels of endophyte. Shadow II has show strong tolerance to drought conditions and fast recovery from summer stress. One of the more desirable traits of Shadow II is that it can be mown to a height as low as .375.

Shadow II Chewing fescues is a bunch type growing fescue that forms a very dense, tight knit turf. Shadow II has a fine leaf texture, shade tolerance, and has low fertility and moisture requirements.

Shadow II A great choice for un-mowed roughs or along bunker faces, Shadow II performs well under low maintenance situations. It is an ideal choice as a stand alone or to blend with other cool season grasses such as Perennial ryegrass or Kentucky bluegrass.
